THIRTY-SEVENTH YEAR

TABERNACLE CAMPAIGN ON SECOND LAP

Dr. Biederwolf Resumes Effort After Rest Period

SERMON ON PLIGHT OF LOT

Too Many Men Now Like Lot of Old, Evangelist Says

The Biederwolf campaign was put into full swing for its second week's work in Lima when John Ross Reed, directed the congregation in singing several good old rousing church songs at the tabernacle at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. The evangelist party rested Monday.

"Everything is progressing in a wonderful way," Dr. Biederwolf asserts. "The tabernacle itself is a wonderful thing in its construction, the good men of Lima who are engineering this campaign are showing the spirit that is in them, the ushers have done their part and the choir has responded in a way that pleases every one, including their leader, who is more than pleased."

"The crowd of enthused people of this community who have attended the meetings outstepped the grandest expectations of the evangelist. Three hundred and fifty souls have been given into the trust of God. The collection is below the standard that has been set up by every other branch of the work, however.

SERMONS THAT "HURT"

All of this good feeling, earnest consideration and regular attendance on the part of the people of Lima has come about because Dr. Biederwolf has some how got under the skin and has been delivering sermons that hold them and make them want to come back and get more. Rev. W. L. Steeves believes.

Other members of the Biederwolf party have had no small part in winning people to the meetings. Much is due to the singing of Homer W. Grimes and the piano solos of Glenn Grace. Roland B. Mikesell did his part by organizing the two big choirs of singers and John Ross Reed has just made them sing. Some one said: "That director sure does make them come across with the goods." Everything has been carried along in a systematic manner and without a hitch. E. J. Rogers, assistant evangelist, has complete charge of affairs.

Mrs. Frances Allison, who will do personal work among the girls and women of our city, has joined the party and already taken up her lot's experience.

Dr. Biederwolf preached an inspiring sermon at the tabernacle Tuesday afternoon on "Mr. and Mrs. Lot in Society." As long as Lot stuck to the Lord and did his bidding, he prospered but after a time he thought he was too big for God and he gave all his time to society and business. Then he failed and lost everything. He found out that he could not be a follower of God and the world at the same time. A great number of people learn that lesson every day, the evangelist said. Leave God out and run your own business and you will run it in the dirt every time he added.

Dr. Biederwolf promises an exceptionally good selection of sermons this week and hopes to continue the work here is even a greater way than he did last week.

John Ross Reed has prepared a complete list of music for the week and will direct the choir in many moving and inspiring songs.

Speaking on the theme of "Mr. and Mrs. Lot in Society," Dr. Biederwolf said: "This afternoon in part:

"Whether Lot ever came out of that cave we don't know. The record doesn't say. We hope he did. We hope he sought more in the company of his body uncle, Abraham, and tried to hang up as far as he could for the profit he had made out of his life. Leave God out and run your own life and you'll run it in the dirt everytime. No whether Lot came out or not, there's one thing sure, when he woke to the next morning and found himself hanging away out in that old cave home, friendless and penniless and homeless, godless and forsaken, he knew then that it cost him so much to learn that he can't pay to try to be a follower of God and the world at the same time, for it will be true to hate one and love the other, or hold to the one and let the other go."

"And that's what is the matter with the church today. Let a prayer-meeting and a card party come on the same night and there'll be more church members at the card party than pray-at-meeting. I was conducting a revival in Lima, Ohio, one time and a former pastor wrote to someone there and said, 'If you want to you can tell Biederwolf this and that, and this is what it was.' He said, 'what could we do?' When I was holding special meetings the members of my church sat up their dances and attended card games at one another's homes. One night during the revival one of the frequent members got up a big affair and the following were there: two elders and their families; one deacon and wife. What could I do with the bunch? I helped in our community. They threw the card party in my face for weeks afterwards. They wouldn't act as decent Christian people and then got mad because they were strong up for it and of course I had to give in. Now you can see what some of your pastors will be saying about you after this go. But you might as well expect to overthrow the pyramids with a broom as you might as well expect to batter down Gibraltar with a paper bag shop."

GERMAN CABINET IS SELECTED

Cuno Expected to Announce List of Ministers Today

BERLIN — (Associated Press) — Chancellor Cuno is expected to make known today the names of the men he has selected for his "business cabinet."

Later in the week, possibly on Thursday, the ministry will make its first appearance before the Reichstag. It will have the support of three middle parties from whose ranks most of the new ministers were chosen.

Socialists refused to have a part in the cabinet and no support from them is looked for.

At least four members of the foreign ministry, it has been intimated, will serve at the old posts.

For the foreign affairs portfolio it is understood that one of Germany's diplomatic representatives has been named while the posts of justice and economics has been given either to members of the People's party or to non-partisans.

DATA SOUGHT FOR TRAFFIC MEET

Ohio Asks Advice of New York and Massachusetts

COLUMBUS — (United Press) — Authorities in New York and Massachusetts have been asked to advise Ohio's legal department of its methods in curbing and coping with the traffic problem. Attorney General Price stated today. Suggestions from the experience of officials in those states, have also been asked to supplement the suggestions Price has requested from law directors and chief solicitors of Ohio's largest cities.

Price early last had received no replies from his letter written to the legal representatives of the larger cities, asking them to forward to him any proposals they may have for uniting traffic ordinances to be considered at the traffic meeting, the attorney general is to call.

Price's letter was sent out last week, however, and he said he had not expected immediate replies.

In addition to the letters previously sent out, Price today requested Fred M. Roseland, Chicago, chief of the safety division of the National Safety Council, to forward any suggestions his organization may have to offer. The letter to Roseland was at the suggestion of E. R. Cott, of the Hocking Valley Railroad, Columbus, who wrote Price that "the national safety council is better informed on this subject than any other organization in the country and will be glad to be of any assistance."

In the meantime, Price's department in continuing its investigations to determine from the legal standpoint just how far it will be possible to proceed toward establishing a uniform traffic code to form the basis of local ordinances in all the larger cities, and also what changes can be made in the state laws.

The meeting of the city legal representatives, which Governor Davis has asked Price to call, will not be summoned until definite program to be submitted, has been mapped out, Price stated.

ROTARIANS HEAR HUMORIST

John W. Raper Addresses Civic Club at Monday Dinner

John W. "Jack" Raper, Cleveland newspaperman, took the subject of "Back to Normalcy" in an address to members of the Rotary club Monday night at the Hotel Norval and then proceeded to depart from it.

For nearly two hours Raper discussed conditions in this country in a very entertaining manner and to the enjoyment of the large number of Rotarians and guests present.

He touched upon the "Great Thirst," the tragedy of the bald head and dwelt to a great extent upon the characteristics of "cranks" and "old men."

"I do not wish to deny any man the right to play golf," he said, "nor do I want to call him an old man." The fact remains that most men chase a golf ball when they are too old to chase anything else.

Alfred Schumate, former Rotarian and basso profundo, sang two songs for the club following the music singing. The crowd cheered him repeatedly. Glen Grace, tabernacle pianist, accompanied him.

"Big Game Hunting" was the subject of talk by Fred Cuthbert and Clem Thompson. Cuthbert waxed oratorical on the joys of hunting turkeys and Clem told why the cow on Harry Workman's farm was shot by the car.

These new members were taken into the Lima Rotary club. They are H. C. Sterling, Ohio Power Co.; Lynn Timmerman, Ford dealer; and Virgil Knisley, manager of the G. E. Blum store.

CRUELTY, NEGLECT IS CHARGED IN DIVORCE SUIT AGAINST A. R. ELY

Cruelty, ill-temper and neglect are among the multitude of allegations preferred by Susan E. Ely, 8, West-st., in a divorce action filed in common pleas court Tuesday, naming A. Roy Ely, Detroit, as the defendant.

Marital troubles between the two, the petition reveals, date back to the time of the marriage in Pendleton, Oregon in 1909.

After they came east to reside, relations became more and more strained, the wife asserts. Ely refused to support his family, it is alleged and called his wife vile names, when angry.

For long periods, the petition says, he would go about the home in sullen silence, refusing to speak to his helpmate.

Because of his cruelty and neglect Mrs. Ely says she was compelled to leave him July 30, 1921. She was accompanied by her three children, Ladley, 12; William Burton, 8; and Beryl Marie, 3. She asks the court to grant to her their care and custody. Ely is said to be employed at the Ford plant in Detroit.

Many intelligent mothers overlook these few simple facts about food.

EVERY mother interested in her children's welfare meets a problem in the proper feeding of her boys and girls.

Parents often do not realize the evil effects of mal-nutrition; and that care in the selection of food will avoid a large percentage of children's ills.

One of the best of all foods for providing proper nourishment for growing boys and girls is Grape-Nuts—made of whole wheat flour and malted barley, and scientifically baked for twenty hours. This long baking brings out a delicious flavor, makes the food easy to digest—without fermentation. Grape-Nuts with milk or cream is a complete food.

Here is a suggestion for better health: Serve Grape-Nuts as often as the folks wish it.

FIRST DONATION FOR CITY AID

Citizen Contributes $5 at Office of The Lima News

First contribution for the support of the police and fire departments as urged by Mayor Harold Cunningham in conjunction with "Theater Day," Friday, was received by The Lima News Tuesday.

C. H. Shattuck, 647 N. Main-st., laid a five dollar bill on the desk of the Editor and expressed himself in harmony with the plan of asking the people of Lima to aid the departments.

"I believe it is to the advantage of every business man and property owner to have an efficient fire and police department and here is my contribution," Shattuck said.

Mayor Harold Cunningham, in calling upon the people of Lima to support the theaters in their benefit performances Friday, has also asked that many large contributions be made and requested the newspapers to cooperate.

While a considerable sum will no doubt be raised by the theaters from general admissions, it will be the $5 and $10 contributions that will aid the city, Mayor Cunningham points out.

Police and fire department employees have not received their pay for the first half of November, it is announced at city hall and the needs for the months of November and December will total nearly $18,000.

Any other payments which may be made to The Lima News in conjunction with Theater Day will be held until Friday and then turned into the fund being raised for the aid of the city.

MURPHY DENIES CHARGE PREFERRED BY GIRL, 14

William Murphy, alias Ward Murphy, 25, 126 O'Connor-av., pleaded not guilty thru his attorney Tuesday morning in police court, to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He was released on a $500 bond pending a preliminary hearing.

Murphy was arrested late Thursday afternoon following a chase by police during which a number of shots were said to have been fired.

He is alleged to have spoken disrespectfully to Cornelia Hill, 14, 110 Miller-av. The girl filed the complaint which led to the man's arrest, police say.

William Waltner, Leech-av., arraigned in police court November 1 on a similar charge, is said by police to have been arrested as the result of a complaint by the same girl. His case is now before the grand jury.

TABERNACLE CAMPAIGN IN SECOND LAP

eyes and there's a lot of other things you can't see and the closer they bring them to your eyes the more they bring out until everything else is lost from your vision. I know more than one grasping,avaricious, covetous, money-loving old souse who has let his whole family go straight to hell while he kept busy chasing dollars and trying to increase his rating a notch or two in Bradstreet and Dunn.

"I heard of a preacher who got such a call and about a week after someone met him little boy in the street and said, 'Well, what is your father going to leave me?' I don't know he said. 'He's still praying for light, but he's got most of the furniture packed.'

"But I could just make you tired listening to the names of preachers who have done just the opposite thing. But, say, did you ever hear of a demon or an elder or a steward who refused to go somewhere else? No, I think he could do nothing else?"

"Then if you can trust them, and I like stewards if they'll stow and deescons if they'll leak, but the fact that you who stand down there and I who stand up here can rightly have different standards of choice to determine where we are going to live and what we are going to do is all wrong. Abram lifted up his head and said, 'Now Lord, do thou choose for me.' And if our lives are controlled by any other method of choice than that we are a race of Lotas and not the children of

Lot. Now let's follow this man a little bit. 'Walk in the sight of your own eyes and in the ways of your own heart, but know thou that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment.' It was so with Lot. It was a frightful judgment that came upon him.

"Of course Lot didn't mean to be dishonest but he did mean to get rich and he did, but he wouldn't lie or cheat or cheat. But 'Of course,' he said to himself, 'It would never do to allow my business ingenuity to be hampered by any supererogatory scrupulousness.'

"I don't think we read, did we, anywhere that he was a member of the Standard Oil company or of some big trust or oil company? He was a man of his family on the poor and sweat-laden and then doled out a few paltry million of dollars to endow a religious institution, but I sometimes wonder if he didn't have just a little twinge of conscience about all that money that he kept on getting out of other people's pockets and getting into his own."

"Yes, he became wealthy. Prosperity just seems to smile on him, and I just seem to pitied his poor short-sighted uncle back in the woods."

"Then with his wealth came social distinction and the pleasure of this world, of course."

"Nothing was too high-priced for the Lot family. The choicer food adorned their table and liveried servants waited at their beck and nod. Mrs. Lot and her four daughters always in the highest circles, no doubt delighted another eye by their rich and beautiful and varied wardrobe. If they had lived in one day it would have been one night a White Swiss trimmed in Valenciennes, and the next an ivory satin with point Duchess and third a muslin du sofa touched up with point desprit or Brussels net.

"And then in addition to all else, political honor is heaped upon him. As read in chapter 19, it was said in the gate of heaven only supposed by some to be the place of the chief officer of the city—something perhaps like our city mayor. Mr. Moody suggested that Hon. John Lot of Sodom would sound well. Whether he gained his position by wife-pulling; whether he bought it or whether the position sought him, we do not know, but Lot had risen very rapidly in the estimation of the Sodomites and his name was often on their lips as they passed and went the streets of that godless city. It was an urge advances in the fellowship of the world. When Lot dwelt in the valley he would have scorned the thought of accepting an office at the hands of the godless Sodomites, but having entered into that outer rim of the whirlpool it is only a question of time till he gets to the center."

"All this did Lot gain—wealth, pleasure, honor, and wonder how much real satisfaction they ever brought to his heart. And I wonder sometimes if his heart didn't yearn just a bit for the quiet plains of Mamre and a quiet hour with Uncle Abraham, such as he used to enjoy.

"I am not going to sneer at wealth. It's a good thing to have and I would advise you to go after it if it's worth the time in son of a man's soul possessed with a greed for it. The curse of money for the rich and poor alike is not in having it but in loving it, for such a love cuts out of the soul all that is pure and lovely and virtuous.

"I am not going to sneer at pleasure. God wants His children to be light-hearted, and a man's life is richer and fuller for the legitimate pleasure of life.

"You will find God in every holy place if you go there with a holy purpose, but when you have gone anywhere and come away, if you could not say, 'Behold, God was in that place,' you have failed to go to God."

"I am not going to sneer at honor. It's a holy thing to serve one's country, his commonwealth or his city. In the chief place of confidence and trust, but when a man sacrifices principle for position, as Lot must have done, he is only riding the ocean of popularity, high up on its laughing waves, to toss out a hopeless wave to the rocky shore, and when any man allows wealth, pleasure or position to take the place of things God can bestow, he is sacrificing the higher for the lower, and making himself poor indeed. This is what Lot did; he made a selfish choice; he gained everything a worldling could wish to gain, but see what it cost him. It's a question of profit and loss. He gained the world and lost it just in time to save his soul."

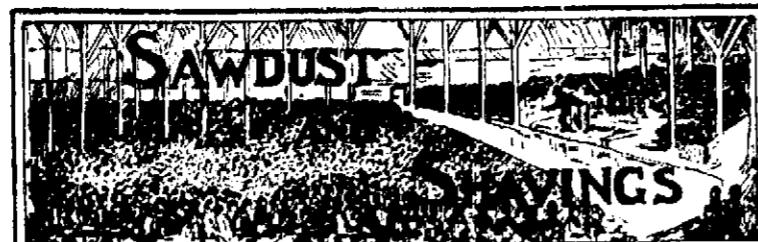

"Then Lot lost all of his real friends. With Abraham's company were doubtless many of his boyhood associates and many real friends in whom he could confide and whose sacred few to whom he could reveal the secret of his heart, but in Sodom, though he was popular, he had no real friends whom he could trust. The time came when the whole town rose up against him, and his own family became so cold and unsympathetic, by reason of their dissipation in the vain and Godless pleasures of the world, that he could not with any satisfaction unburden his heart to his own wife or daughters."

"It's funny how the lust of money will dam a man's soul," Dr. Biederwolf says.

"Leave God out and run your own life and you'll run it in the dirt every time."

"You can't be a follower of God and the world at the same time."

"That's the trouble with the average church member of today. If a card party comes on prayer meeting night, the church member will usually attend the card party."

There is plenty of fuel on hand to keep the big heaters in the tabernacle going at full blast and comfort is assured, no matter how cold the weather becomes, it is stated.

Dr. Biederwolf is looking forward to a splendid success this week, he says. The members of the party are refreshed after a day of rest and are ready for the fray against the devil and his works.

Monday is Sunday for the Elder-wolf party. In other words, they work on Sunday, but it's in the cause of the Master.

The seating capacity of the tabernacle has been augmented by the loan of 150 chairs by the City Undertaking Co., for use during the remainder of the campaign. On several occasions the seating arrangement heretofore has grown inadequate.

Tonight is patriotic night at the tabernacle. Dr. Biederwolf will preach a sermon appropriate to the occasion and special patriotic songs will be given by the choir.

"If ever hell breaks loose on earth it's when the family tied gets started."

"Then Lot lost all his money. This was what he had had his heart set on. For this he had stifled the still small voice that constrained him as he lifted his eyes to the bright sun of the garden of God? But when the angels set him outside the gate with his face toward the hills all that he had at his affections upon, all that he had stifled his conscience to gain, all that he had toiled so hard to acquire—his bonds and his mortgages and his property—all went up with the smoke of the doomed city?

"Then Lot lost his opportunity for service; 20 years in that wicked place, and not one man won for God. Lot and his family, had they been true to their faith, might have been the means of saving the entire city. You can count ten in the family; that may be why Abraham stopped praying for Sodom, but he did not stop, and he gave up his offering, and he gave up his redemption, and no mind can estimate their possible achievements. In the name of God; and the saddest moment for you, my brother and sister, will be when the last grain is slipping through the hour glass of your life and you are compelled in bitter humiliation to look over a whole lifetime of wasted opportunity to serve the God and the Christ you professed to love."

"Then Lot lost his influence over men. The people of that wicked place soon discovered that Lot cared more for their money than he did for them. A howling mob surged down the streets of Paris past bethelings baying at the swine and spiked the guns at the gates, square footed on an old gray-haired man, stood before them, uncovered and signaled for attention. 'Halt!' cried the leader of the mob, 'Citizens, it is a lie! Every 60 years of a pure life, who is about to address you.' And what men? The people of that wicked place have lost his faith in God; and that is the saddest of all. While Abraham on the plains of Mamre has scarce finished laying hold by mighty faith on the promise of God to spare the city for the sake of the righteous, weak, meek, simple Lot is shrinking from the Lord's provision for his rescue. When the angel told him to escape to the mountains and all would be well, he said, 'Nay, Lord test some evil befall me, and begot that the village of Zoar might be spared him as an asylum and God promised Zoar would be protected and the very next morning, not willing to trust the divine promise he left the place for his miserable mountain retreat.'

"To have loved Him, to have believed in Him, to have searched the deep things by His spirit, to have confided in Him and then to have lost your confidence in His love and His word!

"We must leave Lot just where the record dues. He has gone into his misery, gloom and gloomy place and night has come. He is silent and alone, silent as if to shut out from the world his shameful scene that follows. Let us hope that he again sought and found his God, but surely the torment of Prometheus bound to the rocks with vultures forever gnawing at his vitals, pictures but a touch of the awful remorse of conscience that must have weighed him down into the very soul of this unhappy man.

"As we began so we close, for when he awoke from that awful night of darkness, in which the last vestige of honor was stripped from his and found himself homeless, friendless, penniless, childless, honorless, hopeless and Godless, he realized, as I pray God you and I may realize today, that it does not pay to sacrifice conviction in attempting to serve God and the world. At no time, however, will 'taste one and love the other, or else we will hold to the one and despise the other.'

FIRST LADY SEES ONLY TROUBLE

Not Enthusiastic About Life in Governor's Mansion

PREFERS TO WORK AND COOK

California Woman Does Not Want Servants

(By GENE COHN)
SACRAMENTO, Cal. — (Special) California's "best housewife" has become California's "first lady." "And now my troubles begin," sighs Mrs. Friend W. Richardson, whose husband was swept into the governorship at the last election.

It is traditional that, under such circumstances, the wife burble jubilantly and dreams of social position. Not so Mrs. Richardson. Noted as a housekeeper de luxe, home body, cook and mother, she opines that "the governor's mansion will never seem like home."

"Yes, my troubles are beginning now," she said as she prepared to move into the stately mansion. "Now I'll have to have cooks and maids, and I've been doing my own housework all my life."

"DEAR ME! COOKS!"

"Dear me!" And I've always been told that cooks and servants are so much trouble. They never cook things the way you want them. They never do things the way you'd do them."

It has long been her philosophy that every woman should be sole overlord of her home.

"I've always thought woman's clubs and that sort of thing were waste of time. Women can find plenty to use up their time around the house if they want to," she holds.

The first duty of a governor's wife, as of every other wife, she believes, is to maintain her home ties against the encroachments of outside attraction. She believes that the "first lady" should always be the "best housewife."

"If a woman is really happy in her home she won't have much time for social affairs," she avers.

"Now, I suppose I'll have to entertain. And maybe I'll find time now to pay a few calls. I haven't called at more than seven homes in 10 years. If a governor's wife has as much leisure as she's supposed to, I think charity questions should take up considerable of her time."

"And another thing: the matter of town morals needs attention. I intend to clean up this town and help clean up others. They aren't fit to bring up children in. Governors' wives could be a powerful influence for good, I believe."

The simple philosophy of the "best housewife" who became "first lady" was interrupted when, for the first time, she gave attention to her hat.

"I'm afraid I'll have to buy a new hat now," she concluded. "My husband learned a lot about the government economy he expects to practice right in the home. Good home budgets would encourage good state budgets."

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for present results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually just sugar syrup.

For the best pine cough remedy the doctor can buy, put 2½ ounces of pine in a stout bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup.

Either way, you make a full pint more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is very good and tastes very pleasant. You can get this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means better health.

The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently hoarse due to the formation of phlegm. The cure is the same—infantile membranes, and the Pine and Syrup combination will stop it quickly in 24 hours or less.

Splendid too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment. Pine is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its great effect upon coughs.

I write to 225 Institutes. Ask your druggist for 225 bottles of "Piney" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.

CITY HEADS GIVE UP TAX PLAN

Occupational Levy is Discarded as Fund Builder

BIG DEFICIT SEEN AHEAD

City Commission Unable to Solve Problem

An occupational tax as a means of raising funds for the operator of the City of Lima was practically discarded by the members of the City commission Monday night.

There was no formal vote on the question but the sentiment of the commission, following the meeting, was that the enactment of such a tax would be an unwise move at this time.

"I am not advocating an occupational tax over any other method of raising money," C. A. Bingham, city manager, said. "I am merely proposing it as a possibility in case everything else fails."

Two meetings were held Monday one at 5 p.m. and one at 8 p.m. Only three city commissioners attended the first meeting and as a result general discussion only resulted.

Members of the sinking fund commission were present at the meeting, altho the funds entrusted in their care are not in any way affected by the lack of operating revenue.

COMMISSION OBJECTS

Assertions that the bonds issued to cover relief sewer construction might go to protest if action is not taken at once by the city commission were objected to by commissioners who claimed there is nothing they can do.

Employees of the sewer department are drawing plans to the property affected by the sewers, Bingham said, and the city solicitor is looking up legal details.

Altho there is much work to be done, Bingham assured the commission he is attending to the assessing of the sewers and that he would see that money is available when the time for payment comes. "I do not want anyone to think I am criticizing the city commission," Evan O. Sellers, city auditor, said after a report as to the condition of the sewer funds was read. "All we are trying to do is to point out the conditions as they now are and urge all possible speed," he said.

In a financial statement handed each commissioner by Bingham it was pointed out that with all departments operating as they should a deficit of at least $135,000 will be seen.

This figure may be cut by a considerable amount if the pruning operations of the city commissioners are successful, Bingham said Tuesday. In fact, it must be cut if no other income is to be had, he said. This year appropriations by the city commission total $278,932, divided as follows: General, $48,925; health, $17,600; safety, $129,600; public works, $76,232; welfare, $16,624.

FUTURE PROSPECTS

Budget appropriations for next year as outlined by Bingham are: General, $39,800; health, $17,800; safety, $130,200; public works, $80,800, and welfare, $17,100, or a total of $295,000.

Reassessment of Kenilworth-area from Elm to High-sts was ordered by the commission. There have been a number of objections to the amount of the assessment.

Petitions from the Vapo Stove company for the vacation of certain alleys near their new plant and for the construction of a sewer were granted by the commission.

A petition from the Standard Oil Co., for the right to erect a filling station at the intersection of North and Elizabeth-sts was deferred to a future date for action.

DELPHOS QUARTETTE SOUGHT BY DEFIANCE

Name of the Delphos Knights of Columbus quartette has been sent to Defiance, where the K. of C. council has issued an urgent request for a song festival in December. It is believed the singers will accept the invitation. The date of December 5 has been mentioned.

The quartette has met with success at inter-city meets. The Delphos council is backing the vocalists to put the city on the map in musical circles. The organization is composed of Joseph Mach, first tenor; Raymond McKown, second tenor; Rudolph Snyder, first basso and Syl Grothouse, second basso.

Constable's notice of sale of property belonging to Riner Davis, Main-st poolroom proprietor, Delphos, who fled the city more than a month ago was posted Tuesday by Chief of Police Henry Kehres. According to police, Davis took French leave fearing arrest on a liquor charge, leaving behind a number of creditors, six of whom filed attachment proceedings in the court of Justice D. M. Bliss.

Amount of the claims filed by Fred Laemmerman, Al Huysman, Edwards Bros., Alpha Jenkins, Lima Cigar and Tobacco company and the Humphrey Grocery company of Van Wert is $300 11.

Pool tables and other fixtures are listed for the sale, which will take place December 2 at 1 p.m.

WEDDING BELLS STILLED FOR MISMATED COUPLE

Wedding bells which chimed in 1904 for Eliza and Harry Scott were stilled Tuesday when Mrs. Scott filed a petition for divorce, alleging desertion.

The couple have no children, the petition states. Scott is alleged to have left home three years ago and has never returned. Neither has he contributed to her support in the interval, the wife asserts.

RADICAL CHANGES BY Y.M.C.A.

Non-Evangelical Adherents May Now Serve on Committees

The most radical changes ever made in the policies governing the Y. M. C. A. were witnessed at the international convention in Atlantic City, according to announcement made Tuesday morning by Tom Pearman, general secretary of the Lima organization.

The most startling innovation and a change which was approved by almost a unanimous vote of over 2,000 delegates at the convention, was the revision of the constitution, permitting members of "non-evangelical" religious beliefs and faiths to serve upon executive committees of the international, national and local organizations.

Hitherto Jews, Roman Catholics, Christian Scientists and Quakers have been barred from serving on the staff of the Y. M. C. A. Now, according to the changed constitution, 10 percent of the membership of any committee may be men not allied with an evangelical church.

The second important action taken at the convention, which represented every nation, was the calling of a committee which is to revise the policy of the Y. M. C. A. It has been felt for several years, according to Pearman, that the Y. M. C. A. had grown too rapidly for its connecting organization and the new committee will lay out anew the ideals and the direction of the work of the Y. M. C. A.

Pearman returned from Atlantic City Monday night.

FATHER CLARK UNABLE TO SPEAK AT DELPHOS

Impossibility of Father James Clark, St. Gerard's parish, Lima, addressing the Delphos Knights of Columbus at a meeting Tuesday night, was announced by Lecturer D. J. Clark. He, however, has been issued a standing invitation and will speak to the Delphos Knights at his earliest possible convenience.

The K. of C. quartette, composed of Syl Grothouse, Joseph Mach, Raymond McKown and Rudolph Snyder, will afford a musical entertainment at the meeting.

DRINK LEMONADE FOR YOUR COLD

Try drinking lemonade if you want to get rid of your cold in a hurry. It is harmless and how you will love this old-fashioned drink. Just add a tablespoonful of plain ordinary powdered sugar to a quart of lemonade and drink a glassful every hour for five or six hours. Do this today—and tomorrow the cold will be gone.

Medicines that merely suppress a cold are dangerous, as the cause is still left in the system. The success of the largal-lemonade treatment is due to the fact that the accumulated poison caused by the cold germs are carried off through the kidneys, bowels and the secretions of the skin, bringing quick, lasting relief.

Contains no quinine, opium, aspirin or other harmful drugs. Can be given with perfect safety to children as well as adults.

You can get powdered sugar at C. M. Hunter's. It costs but little and seldom fails to break the worst cold.

Detroit Millionaires Plan Flight to Wooded North

SIX MAKE UP PARTY

Man to Leave by Early Part of Summer

(BY DUDLEY SIDDALL)—Development of the flying boat has now reached a point where a party of American millionaires is planning to fly next summer on a hunting and exploring trip to the arctic circle. It will be a prospecting trip de luxe.

Success in the venture will virtually result in opening a whole new continent in northern Canada. Mysterious wildernesses heretofore penetrated only by hardy adventurers will be brought within three days of New York. Financiers will be able personally to investigate the fabulous stories of minerals, timber and fur brought back from the arctic circle by explorers. Two weeks vacation will suffice for the sportsmen to get a shot at a walrus or polar bear.

MY SIGN FOR 'TRIP'

Sound like a dream But—Four prominent Detroiters and two of New York's leaders in commercial aviation are already booked for the first flight, which will be operated by Aeromarine Airways, Inc. A specially constructed seaplane to carry ten passengers and a crew of three on northern trips is now building in Keyport, N. J. Official permission for such flights has been granted by the Canadian government. Arrangements for gasoline and other supplies have been made with the Hudson Bay Co. "After operating passenger-carrying aircraft for three years and having flown over one million passenger miles without a serious mishap, we concluded that properly regulated flying would enable us to fly to such Hudson Bay territory in safety," said Charles F. Reudens, president of Aeromarine Airways.

Due to the numerous large lakes and rivers throughout Canada we will have continuous opportunity for landing from New York to the northwestern territory. Inasmuch as our boats fly only over water this chain of lakes and rivers, affording safe landing facilities, removed the first and only serious obstacle to such a flight.

When I first suggested the possibilities to business men and sportsmen in Detroit, they were amazed. They were quick to realize, however, that the hunter's paradise of the world hitherto inaccessible, was at last with a few short hours of their homes in Detroit.

FOUR AGREE

So far four have definitely agreed to go. They are Howard E. Coffin, maritime chairman of the U.S. Aircraft Board; vice president of the Hudson Motor Car Co., and president of the National Aeronautic Association; Colonel Harold H. Emmons, president of the Detroit Board of Commerce; Dr. James W. Ingle, Detroit police commissioner; William E. Wetzer, fire commissioner and president of the Detroit Athletic Club.

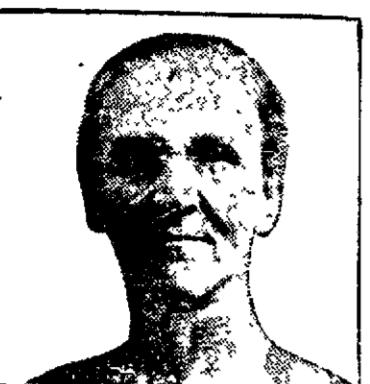

Hugh M. Upper, owner of Aeromarine Airways, and I are also going on this first trip."

So little is known of this part of the Hudson Bay region that no accurate itinerary is to be scheduled. The plane will leave New York about July 1 to go to Montreal by way of the Hudson river, jumping over inland lakes and rivers to Moose Factory on James Bay, and then north for hundreds of miles by easy stages up Hudson Bay. The trip will take two or three weeks, and future trips will be made as regularly after that as charter parties require.

The plane now building is similar to those on the aeromarine lines in Florida, New York and Lake Erie except that it will be equipped for sleeping and electric cooking. Like the other planes in the aeromarine fleet it will carry wireless sending and receiving equipment.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

DETROIT—The directors of the Packard Motor Car Company declared a 100 per cent stock dividend on common stock.

MRS. DORA LONG
Mr. Hunter's drug store, Lima, where he is now meeting large crowds of people daily and explaining his remarkable new remedy. Mrs. Long has many friends in Lima. Continuing, she said:

"I have suffered with my stomach something awful for three years. My stomach got so sore that I could not stand the weight of the bed clothing upon me. I could only eat the lightest kind of food. My kidneys were all tired out all the time and couldn't sleep right. I tried a good many different medicines but did not get any relief and then I began to read about your Plant Juice and finally I started taking it. I can't say enough for Plant Juice because it has done wonders for me. I can eat anything I want now and do not suffer the least distress afterward. The soreness has all left my stomach; the pains are gone from my back and I can sleep fine now. I can do all my work without becoming tired out. I think it is just wonderful the way Plant Juice acts on the stomach and kidneys and I am telling all my neighbors about it."

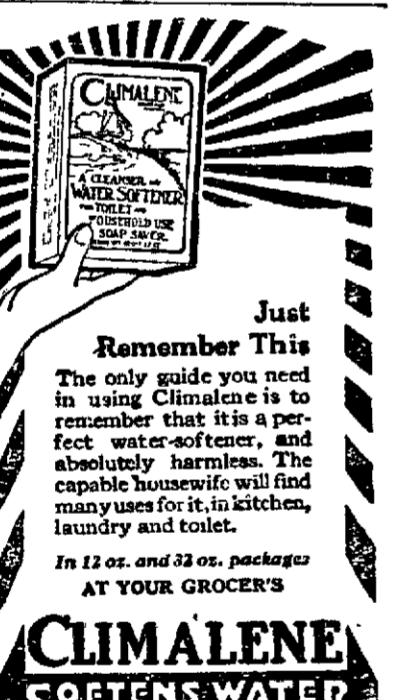

Plant Juice is a natural remedy, made from the medicinal juices of natural plant life. A great many people who have taken Plant Juice have said afterward that it seemed to act like magic.

The Plant Juice Man is at Hunter's drug store, 49 Public Square, Lima, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Plant Juice is sold also in Lima at Hunter's drug store at Main and Wayne-sts and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office.

200 WILL ATTEND OHIO STATE DAY CELEBRATION

Approximately 200 persons are expected to attend the annual "Ohio State" day celebration, to be held this year on December 8, according to Dr. J. C. Nagelzen.

Arrangements are being made to hold the celebration in one of the largest auditoriums in Lima and the program, which has not yet been completed will include a dinner dance and an entertainment par excellence. Johnny Creps, of Lima, Ohio State cheer leader, is to broadcast the college yell at Columbus and a radio set will be erected in the auditorium. Plans are being made to have a member of the faculty address the alumnis.

Invitations to the celebration are being printed and will be sent out this week. Members of the Allen-ee executive committee say that they expect to make this year's "Ohio State Day" the greatest in the history of the organization.

SOLDIER PEDDLERS PLACED UNDER POLICE REGULATION

Soldier peddlers selling publications claimed to be for the relief of crippled soldiers will be under the supervision of T. A. Lanker, chief of police, hereafter.

This decision was reached by city officials following the unauthorized sale of the publications by soldiers, several of whom could not give satisfactory accounts of their war record.

Under the present plan the police department will be required to look up the references given by the men and ascertain whether the magazine they are selling is all they claim for it.

KILLED MANY DEER

DENVER—More deer were killed in Colorado in the four day hunting season this fall, than ever before in the same period of time, according to the report of the state fish and game department. Approximately 900 of the animals were killed which is about 30 more than last season.

PLANTS ABOLISHED

COLUMBUS.—The state department of dairy and food inspection ordered the abolition of ice cream plants operated in dark and poorly ventilated basements on account of violation of sanitary requirements.

CINCINNATI.—The practice of the probate court in fixing the fees of attorneys in will suits heard in common pleas court was held to be invalid by a decision of the circuit court of appeals.

Advice to Winter Motorists

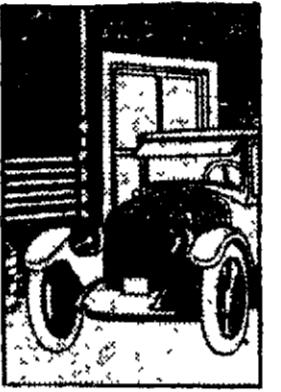

Cold Weather Driving Suggestions Based on the Experience Gained by The Standard Oil Company (Ohio) in the Operation of Hundreds of Motor Cars and Trucks.

THE troubles and annoyances of winter driving—frozen radiators, dead batteries, cold engines, stiff and complaining springs and other chassis parts—can be avoided or overcome. Reasonable care and protection, beside more than paying for themselves in excellence of service, will add many miles to the life of your car.

The Standard Oil Company (an Ohio corporation) feels that its service to the motorizing public goes beyond the refining and distribution of high grade motor fuel and lubricants. We deem it a part of our duty to co-operate with motor car manufacturers and dealers in assisting motorists to get the best possible operating results from their cars, with the greatest degree of economy.

This advertisement is published to call attention—when cold weather is just around the corner—to practices which will make winter driving more satisfactory. Many of these suggestions are covered in the instruction book provided with your car—they have also been proved sound by the actual experience of this Company in the operation of its own fleet of hundreds of motor cars and trucks.

1. Keep your car in a heated garage as much as possible. The use of hood and radiator covers will make starting and warming-up easier and will prevent too rapid loss of engine heat—always throw a robe or other covering over the motor when parking out-of-doors. An ordinary electric light or a patented motor warmer placed under the hood at the base of the radiator is a big help in an unheated garage—cover radiator and hood to hold heat.

5. Change crank-case oil at least every 300 to 500 miles. Frequent use of the choke in cold weather permits a large amount of unburned gasoline to run down cylinder walls and dilute the engine oil, with possible disastrous results.

6. Watch your radiator solution carefully. A plain solution of denatured alcohol and water will prevent freezing and is harmless to the car. The following table shows proportions to be used.

For protection to 20° above 0°, use 20% alcohol and 80% water.

For protection to 10° above 0°, use 25% alcohol and 75% water.

For protection to 0°, use 30% alcohol and 70% water.

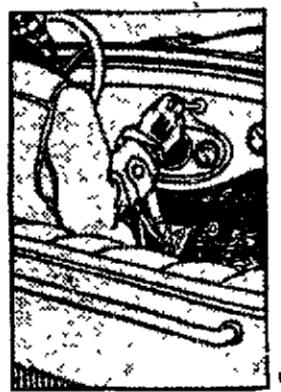

For protection to 10° below 0°, use 35% alcohol and 65% water.

7. Keep springs, spring shackles, brake rods and other chassis parts free of ice and frozen mud.

These parts should be lubricated as often in winter as in summer—the wear is as great if not greater. Do not use too heavy grease.

8. When warming up the motor avoid excessive "racing"—run motor slowly to be sure that oil, which is heavy and sluggish when cold, will reach bearing surfaces before they become overheated. Furthermore, oil feed lines have been known to burst under the heavy oil pressure generated when a cold motor is raced.

3. Don't overdo the "choke". Its use is necessary when the motor is cold, but be sure to return it to the normal position again as soon as the motor becomes sufficiently warm.

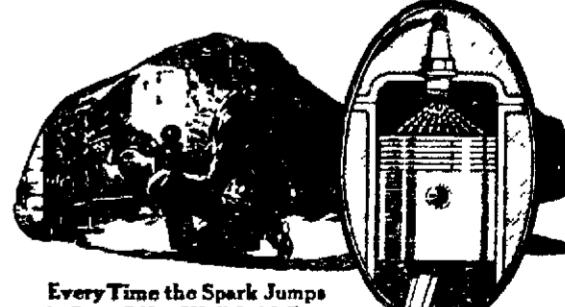

4. Most cars require lighter lubricants in transmission and differential for winter use. Consult your instruction book and do not neglect to change if required. Too heavy lubricants in these important points fail to reach the bearings.

Red Crown Gasoline Refined to Special Winter Standards*

RED Crown Gasoline is the most satisfactory fuel for your motor in winter as well as in summer. It is not necessary to pay a premium for the quick-starting qualities of "high test" gasoline. *Each year, upon the approach of cold weather, the boiling points of Red Crown are lowered at the refinery. This makes Red Crown more volatile; makes it vaporize more readily and start cold motors more quickly. But it is still the gasoline with the complete chain of boiling points, with the heat power and range required to operate a motor efficiently under all the varying conditions of weather, engine speed and load.

The complete chain of boiling points in Red Crown and their effect in the automobile engine may be compared to the action of the paper, kindling and coal in the ordinary grate fire.

The low initial boiling point—like the paper in the grate—gives quick, easy starts. The intermediate boiling points—the "kindling"—give smooth acceleration. And the higher boiling points—the "coal"—give full power and mileage.

CURTAILED ACTIVITIES AT Y. W. C. A.

FAILURE of the campaign just closed by the Y. W. C. A. to raise the full amount of money needed to carry on its activities next year will result in the organization being hampered to an appreciable extent. The budget will be approximately $5,000 short and the agency finds itself in much the same predicament as the city of Lima and will be forced to cut the cloth to fit the funds available.

We regret that a cut in the work being done by this organization will be necessary. It has been increasing its scope rapidly during the last few years and now is on a firm basis and is performing a service in the community no other body can duplicate. Its work among women of all classes without distinction as to creed or financial standing means far more to the city than the meagre amount of money which is required.

The Y. W. C. A. has grown so rapidly that it has been forced to make the most of a make-shift arrangement in accommodating women and girls who seek the advantages offered. It had been hoped that enough money would be raised, in the campaign—$18,000 was needed — to bring all activities and agencies under one roof and allow the expansion to take in the third floor of the building now occupied. The shortage of funds will necessitate the curtailment of plans and will prevent the undertaking from being carried out in its entirety.

While it must be realized that conditions existing in the city during the last several months affected the raising of money in this campaign, it is unfortunate that the fine business administration of the Y. W. will be hampered in its efforts in 1923. It will have less money with which to work than in 1922. The big wonder about the Lima organization is that it gets so much done on so little money.

THANKSGIVING NEXT

IT is not required that state or national executives call to the attention of the people of America the manifold reasons they have for remembering to thank Almighty in a special manner for blessings accorded.

However, it is in accordance with precedent for chosen rulers to issue formal notice of the coming of holidays of a national character. Hence, it is in order that the President of the United States and the Governor of Ohio should formulate proclamations concerning the observance of Thanksgiving Day, on November 30.

However one may feel or what his state in life may be, there is always something about the Thanksgiving season that appeals—a sentiment that impels at least temporary thankfulness for the bounties that are bestowed upon a people, individually and collectively.

Governor Harry L. Davis reminds, in his proclamation, that in the perpetuation of an age-old custom, born of grateful recognition and appreciation by the earliest settlers of the land for the blessings found here, we are given to a consecration of one day each year to the offering of thanks for the Divine favors which have been granted.

Thanksgiving Day is distinctly an American institution, one whose establishment we will probably never fail to appreciate for its fitness. From the standpoint of the gifts of nature, of material progress along all lines and for continued peace and concord in a land of freedom and plenty, we are indeed especially favored among the nations of the earth and have plenteous cause for gratitude.

It is our duty, therefore, to seek to improve the lot of those less fortunate than ourselves and strive for the betterment of the condition of humanity generally. Special observance in schools, in churches and in the family home are in order on Thanksgiving Day.

THE WISE IKE

Talk about the gnomes and their mistaken ideas about "taking cold." I have yet to meet one who can hold a candle to a certain Grampy when it comes to spotting drafts in the offing and excluding all such imaginary perils from the environment.

"You doctors nowadays run into much to fads," this doughty patient asserts. "You spend all your time and the patient's money searching for microbes, making intricate and expensive laboratory tests and preparing fearful and wonderful serums, and by the time you begin to get a line on what ails the patient his trouble has probably reached the operative stage if it hasn't automatically cleared up." The old time doctor handled cases differently. One told him one's complaint and he felt the pulse, looked at the tongue, thumped over the chest a bit, inquired about the appetite and pronounced the trouble so and so. Then without further ado he mixed up . . .

"Yes," the doctor rejoins, "those good old days of shotgun or blunderbuss therapy were the halcyon days. I wish I could have practiced then. Nowadays, with the laity so well informed on health matters it doesn't work so well. Suppose, now you came to me today for the first time about your bronchitis. Suppose I followed the fashion of the old doctors you describe, and pronounced your trouble a touch of catarrh. Would you feel satisfied?

And suppose I then proceeded to concoct some horrible shotgun conglomeration . . ."

"The old doctor handed out a combination of real medicines that started you right on the treatment," Grampy insists. "In the old days you knew you were sick and you knew what you had."

"A slight cold on the chest, perhaps?" the doctor ventures facetiously.

"You knew just what ailed you. But now," Grampy regrets to say, "you get so little medicine and so many examinations you're half in doubt whether you're a malingerer or a miserable mortal in the last stages of . . ."

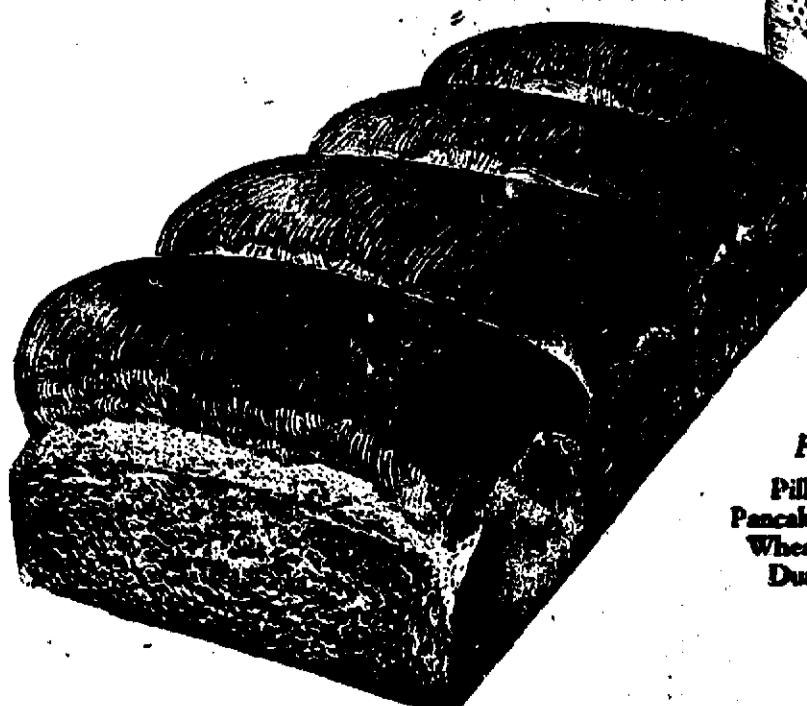

To hear Grampy tell it one would think the old time doctor with his ponderous ways and his limited knowledge had possession of some secret or mystic method with which he could knock light, medium or heavy "colds" into cocked hats in no time, no matter how deeply or firmly seated they were in the chest. Grampy is convinced that his chronic bronchitis is a "cold settled in the chest" and nothing will change him. Like many other misguided victims of chronic bronchitis and allied troubles, he employs a physician, pays substantial fees for medical advice and care, yet unhesitatingly rejects the doctor's advice about the most essential matters of hygiene. "You may make some here brain'd people believe such nonsense, but not me," he declares. "If exposure doesn't cause colds, why does mine grow worse every winter?" And no matter how painstakingly and explicitly the doctor teaches him why the bronchitis gets worse in the season when Grampy spends his time indoors in foul air and desert dryness, Grampy doesn't heed.

GRANDFATHERS

If ever a bozo was hep to the trails, Yours truly is certainly him. I've studied the chickens and followed their trails. I've kept the wreaths under my glimmer. I've piped 'em at work and I've lamped 'em at play. I've flirted and danced with 'em, too. At knowing the ladies I'll modestly say. The birds that outclass me are few. I've looked 'em all over; the kind you can pet. And also the kind that you can't. The baby-faced blond and the stately brunet; At flappers I've taken a slant. (Copyright, 1922)

Dr. Frederick Blankner the Distinguished Chicago Specialist is compelled to extend his successful Health Revival one week, until Weds., Nov. 29th, Parlor B. Lima House

Frederick Blankner, M.D.

Why is the average person so indifferent to his future, puzzles ministers and doctors in common. The minister worries about the spiritual welfare of his parishioner and the doctor marvels why people should be so indifferent to the laws guaranteeing health. To be a good first class Christian citizen, health is imperative. We have in Lima now a well known religious specialist, who is training the community to get the Tabernacle habit and thereby insuring the church habit, as hundreds will hit the sawdust trail who will help to give Lima a good moral house-cleaning and make Lima a better place to live in.

Thousands of people are suffering just merely for the want of a good physical house-cleaning. Some are made miserable from stomach irregularities, some from liver disqualifications and a person with a bad liver is always an unhappy being, some with kidney inactivity, some with lung infections, some with heart perversions, others with nerve tension and no small number with a complication of all organs.

For the past thirty-five years Dr. Blankner has specialized in sick people well. We have many good ministers in Lima and yet great need for a religious specialist. We have many good first class physicians in Lima and yet Lima needs a physiological specialist and perhaps all parts of Allen Co. are making Little Journeys to Parlor B. Lima to meet Dr. Blankner in a heart to heart talk concerning all chronic diseases. You have one week until Wednesday, Nov. 29th to prove this opportunity. Are you wise enough to do so?

Nearly every one is suffering from defective teeth that ought paired or extracted. Ulcerated and pyorrhoeal teeth, especially advanced stage of the disease, ought to be extracted and the person to have it done must in consequence pay the penalty in many devils. Many patients that come to see Dr. Blankner suffer with disease and as a part of his treatment of course, extract them without an easy go as you please rocking chair, without the use of ether, gas, somniform, guaiac or novocaine, and have one done after the other extracted so easily, nicely, skillfully and painlessly simply have to smile and say God Bless the Doctor, and leave the full knowledge that they have received the very highest tender and skill, as Mrs. A. E. Mowery, No. 922 McDonel St., will inform you. Dennis, Glennwood Ave., will tell you, that this is your greatest, as she rejoiced having ten extracted, Wednesday, Nov. 29th, Lima House. Office hours 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Sunday by appointment.

FINANCIERS FEAR NEW CONGRESS

Federal Legislation is Expected
By Wall Street

NEASY OVER EVENTS ABROAD

Results of British Election Regarded With Alarm

(By B. C. FORBES) (Special) — In the highest financial circles there is no apprehension than there is among industrial and other leaders whose business has been improving quite steadily.

Why so many financiers, particularly those of international vision, are somewhat uneasy over the broad, long outlook?

Briefly and bluntly, they are disturbed over the manifestations of street and socialism both at home and abroad.

How for example, do these men interpret our own November election?

They interpret the voting as expressive of widespread discontent and as an endorsement of radicalism, and their fear that the triumphant return to congress of very prominent radicals and the strengthening of the farm bloc will lead to agitation and perhaps legislation calculated to disturb business and financial equilibrium.

Among measures which financiers may be brought to the front are elimination of the "guarantee" of fair return on railway capital, as embodied in the transportation act and other changes, dictated by agricultural and other shippers.

Passage of bonus legislation entailing a very heavy additional burden on tax payers.

Interference with the federal revenue act at the behest of agricultural interests.

Measures designed to bear heavily on capital.

And generally, a governmental attitude unfriendly to business.

These financiers are following closely political and social developments in Europe. And they don't like the way things are going.

They played up most prominently by the newspapers in record-breaking results of the British election that the "conservatives" have

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Sills at first sign of Bladder irritation or Back-ache

The American man and women must guard continually against Kidney trouble, because we eat often too much red meat and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with acid and which the kidneys strive to remove, then taken from over-work becomes sluggish, the eliminating power less, and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and general decline in health.

When your kidney's feel like rings of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad get iron from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may be set free. This famous salt is made from the seeds of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to wash and stimulate clogged kidneys to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending blade disorder.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot burn, makes a delightful effervescent bath water beverage and becomes in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having good kidney flushing any time.

won a clear majority of about eighty over the other parties. But in the eyes of these financiers the most significant feature of the British elections is the doubling of the number of labor members returned to parliament and the raising of the Labor party to the position of the official opposition, with more adherents than the Asquith and Lloyd-George Liberals combined. And what are some of the reforms championed by this labor party that won some four million votes, or one third of the total vote cast?

The most notable plank in labor's platform was one calling for a direct levy upon capitalists called the "confiscation" of—capital to the tune of a very stiff percentage on everything about $25,000, the purpose being to take enough to wipe out the British war debt.

A law to increase income and inheritance taxes on very rich men to 70 or 80 per cent or even more per cent.

And other legislation regarded by labor as calculated to change the whole social and economic system so as to make life easier for the working classes and harder for all those having possessions.

Should the Bonar Law government fall, it would be to this Labor party that the king would turn to form a ministry.

Italy is in the throes of a social and political revolution. The leader of the Fascisti (Mussolini) has set himself up as an uncompromising dictator, and apparently he has behind him vast power, for the legislature agreed to accept his bidding.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

written, thru the action of the socialists.

From Russia comes news that the soviets are more firmly entrenched than ever, now that they have modified their out-and-out communistic policies.

Political and financial conditions in France are not cheerfully regarded in international financial circles.

From Mexico, incidentally, the latest news, including bank failures, is not conducive to bullishness.

It is far from my purpose to foster pessimism here. For some time, however, there has been a widespread tendency among business men to expect a boom and to lay plans for a boom. Under such circumstances, surely it is advisable to take into the reckoning the unfavorable as well as the favorable phases of the general position.

Is it not perhaps significant that since our own election there has been an average decline of $4 per share in the stocks dealt in on the New York stock exchange and that bonds have declined almost 3 per cent?

These declines have occurred, too, in spite of a veritable shower of stock dividends and cash dividends representing either increased regular payments or special disbursements, and in spite, also, of greater ease than had been expected in the money market.

fering a word of explanation to you, he was greatly at fault. It was a very small trick and he deserved to be censured.

If your conscience is clear and you know the cause of your friend's impolite and indifferent attitude toward you is based on a falsehood, write him very ladylike note. Explain to him that you are innocent of the remark and that you regret he has permitted such a thing to break up your friendship without first having consulted you. Verify it. Invite him to come to your home again and renew your friendship. Do not urge him—simply extend the invitation and if he is a gentleman and worthy of your friendship he will be more than anxious to come to you and ask you to overlook his uncalled for attitude.

Dear Miss Smart:
I am a young man of 19 and have been going with a girl of 17 for six months. I love her dearly but she went with another man once about five months ago and had a quarrel. We found out by someone else. She says she did not want to go but her sister made her. She says she will never go with anyone else again. What should I do? When I tell her I am going to leave her she cries and begs me not to go. Do you think she really loves me? I would like to get married in Michigan where we can be quiet and away from people. Please tell me what you think of my case and what you would do?

Why I would marry the girl I love, of course. Isn't that exactly what you are going to do? The fact that this girl happened to be with another young man once certainly isn't sufficient reason for you to hesitate about marrying her. Of course, it is not right for her to deny the fact when you question her but even so I know you will forgive her entirely this time.

It seems that I have almost overlooked the fact that the girl you love is only 17. It seems that that is very young for her as well as yourself to be considering marriage. However, under the circumstances, if it is necessary for her to work and support herself and you have a nice position, perhaps it will be justified in this case. Frankly I do not care to give advice such as I have given you. My conscience really pricks me as I feel that you are both too young to think of marriage at the present time. Your case is a little different. However, it would be wise for you to consult both the father and mother of the girl you admire, before making any definite plans.

DEEP WATERS
BY ZOE BECKLEY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Had the married life of JOHN BARRETT and his wife, ANITA, really reached the breaking point? He thought that he could bear the intolerable monotonousness and announced that now, after 15 years of matrimony, he was going to leave his wife and children and seek happiness with MYRA DEAN, brilliant journalist and woman of the world. But Myra reminds him that he has responsibilities and that she does not care to figure as corespondent in a divorce case. Barrett leaves her apartment determined to think out the situation.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

As Barrett came out of Myra's little house a chill wind from the river swept over him with sobering touch. Curiously, he seemed to see himself standing at the brink of deep water into which only a will-power not his own had kept him from plunging.

Responsibilities, Myra had said. Hideous, relentless word! That's what his whole life was—responsibilities. Who cared about him? Anita took the money he made as a matter of course. She hardly knew he jeered in his bitterness, whether he was an architect or a lawyer. All she cared about was her Lit. Ray Society, her Political Equality League, her Bridge Club, her correct and conventional entertainments, her perfect clothes, her yes, Anita did care for the children. Given her home, her checkbook and her children, he mused resentfully, what matter where he was or whether she ever saw him again!

He wondered if there would be even a ripple in the household when he left. When he left—There were the responsibilities again. His married promise—for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer—Ah, they had been happy when he was poor. What wouldn't he give now if Anita would come to him and say, just once as she used, "The money's the last thing a woman cares about, John. I want you to love me. I love you. I want nothing else—but you!" He found he was walking in

He found Anita alone, down, deep in brooding, so expressive of weariness, stabbed him like a knife. First word she said was furiously at herself for being without her protective shield. She tensed and hostile, dangerous open "Anita," he began. The least curl of her hair jeered "Myra," but her hot denial and went worked like a dog and good. TRIUMPHS OF M. JONQUELLE bekiya, and entered the Rue Muski on the way to the Tombs of the Caihows. Now and then, one, exhausted dropped out of the mad current and fell in the street, swathed in his burnoose like a corpse.

By MELVILLE DAVISON POST

"I THOUGHT YOU WERE KILLED," SHE SAID.

The whole square of the Place Esbekiya was sown with these motionless figures.

But the woman gave no attention. She sat quite motionless, looking down at the man on the gray Arab, at the edge of the Place Esbekiya. She could see only the white helmet, the firm shoulders, the nervous horse, and the sun in the street beyond it. She could not see the man's face, but she knew the features of it.

For some days he had been a distinguished figure in the city. Under the visor of the helmet she could reconstruct the face, with those domineering eyes of sword-blade, and the features that in repose seemed made over iron.

And there arose in her an appalling sense of loss—ghastly sense of having been trapped and cheated. He was the destiny for which she was born into the world, and she had been turned another way into the pit. "Oh, God! If he had only had this bone wall behind her, how far and how wonderfully she would have gone!"

Meanwhile the not of sound and color poured along the Street Karmel-Pasha drifted across the Place Es-

GIRL NOW WELL AND STRONG

Daughter Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as Mother Advised

Wauseon, Ohio.—"My daughter always has backache and leg-ache at certain periods and could not be on her feet at those times. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing girls so much good so she began to take it. That is two years ago and she is a different girl since then able to do any work she wants to do—although she is still careful not to do heavy work—and so well and strong. We recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers with ailing daughters, and I give you permission to publish this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. A. M. BURKHOLDER, Route No. 2, Box 1, Wauseon, Ohio.

inexpressibly happy, no matter in what mood. She tried to imitate the sound, putting out her lips.

And he told her that a cock crowing in the afternoon strangely saddened him, like certain desolate landscapes that impressed the beholder with the end of all things. It made him unutterably lonely. He was not actually lonely, but that note sounded in the sun, could change him like a witch word.

The motor-car which had endeavored to enter a great boulevard crowded with natives, made one or two turns and finally stopped before a narrow, iron gate in a high wall studded with spikes. The driver explained that he could not reach the main entrance. The crowd was strangely obstinate and would not make way for the car.

The girl was blushing slightly. Her eyes, colored like the violet hull of an Italian chestnut, were wide under long lashes curling up. "It was a nasty cropper," he said. "The horse went down like a shot. Fortunately the helmet got the carpet would presently scatter."

And he pressed out the pieces of broken cork.

"I thought you were killed," she said. Then she turned toward the car. "Let me take you up."

He could not very well refuse and he got in. Besides, his horse was nowhere to be seen, and his ruined helmet would make him conspicuous in the street.

It was precisely sunset and from a thousand minarets the muezzin was calling out. The whole city was flaming pink, as the covered with the wings of innumerable flamingoes. The horse had fallen as it entered a great square before a mosque.

When they were seated they fell immediately into a pleasant talk. The charming thing about the girl was her perfect freedom. There was not a pretense in her. She gave a boundless confidence. She was wholly absorbed in the thing she talked about.

Almost at once they were on a friendly footing, and the man found himself speaking of things which he had never before discussed with anybody—trifling, intimate things which touch life here and there.

She loved a jar-fly and a trumpet vine, she said. If she could only see the trumpet-vine and hear the jar-fly, she always became at once closed by the great wall set with spikes. It was native in its architecture outside, with a flat roof, but inside it was a white man's house, with a drawing room on the second floor.

They saw no servant as they went in, although the house was lighted. In the drawing-room no one answered the bell, and the girl went out to discover the reason.

Contrary Mary.

"Good evening," answered Contrary Mary contrarily. "Who are you and where are you going?"

"We're not going anywhere just now," said Nancy. "We'd like to stay here for a little while and talk to you if you don't mind. We're pretty tired for we've been traveling."

Contrary Mary, who had a kind heart in spite of her contrariness, invited them to sit down on some large cockle-shells, while she went around with her watering pot.

"Where have you been?" she asked curiously. "What made you tired?"

"Oh, we've been everywhere, I guess," replied Nick. "To Mars and Jupiter and all along the Milky Way and to a half dozen other stars. Mother Goose lost her broom in the sky somewhere so we came here to find it. Did you see it?"

The concluding installment of this unusual story will appear in our next issue.

"No, I didn't," answered Mary. "Would you like to see my garden?"

"Oh, we'd love to," cried Nancy.

does any product achieve a reputation for superiority but only by the constant striving and unceasing vigilance that are always necessary to make and keep it good.

From the selection of the choicest Kansas Red Turkey Hard Winter wheat, through every process of milling, our one aim is to maintain the quality that has always been characteristic of Larabee's Best Flour.

Three points distinguish Larabee's Best Flour from others:

Gluten—of the highest quality and in the correct proportion for the greatest nutritive value.

Flavor—the natural result of the Larabee Process and the superior wheat from which it is milled.

Economy—because it actually will make "the most bread from the least flour."

M. CHARLES ARRIVES TO TRY ON RUDDY'S SHOES

(By ESTHER WAGNER) M. Charles is the romantic cognac man of the French movie idol, who has come to America to see Rudolph Valentino's place—or to. He's to star in "The Spanish Cavalier" that was originally intended for Valentino. But first he will play opposite Dorothy Dale in "The Law of the Lawless," just to get the hang of the American system, you know.

Monsieur Charles stands six foot one and his nifty French footgear weighs 180 pounds, is of the citrus colors. So much is to be gathered from an account of the star forwarded to us department recently from New York.

Charles de Rochefort will be the one under which this new star of the jumping flickers will be presented to the American public. He doesn't like the idea of amputating his rear handle, but he is afraid the "careless" American will mispronounce the name and make snappy and uncalled for remarks about a certain brand of cheese. So he has reluctantly consented to the short-sighted name.

De Rochefort came to America directly from Italy, where he appeared in several serials. In Naples and Rome he is hailed as the greatest cinema hero of the age.

Paul Verande, a film agent, was driving on the Champs Elysees when M. de Rochefort collided with him. They knew each other by name only. Three weeks later Verande located de Rochefort and told him he wanted him to go to the police commissioner with him. Verande took him to the Paramount offices in Paris. Then minutes later J. S. Robertson had signed de Rochefort for a part in "Spanish Jade."

Then Valentino split with Paramount following a disagreement over provisions of his contract. He had been cast "For the Spanish Cavalier." Valentino and the producers are still on the "outs." Jesse Lasky signed de Rochefort and cast him for Valentino's role.

De Rochefort is blond. He bears no resemblance to Valentino. His appearance is Norman, not Latin. He may some day establish a wide following. He will never supplant Valentino. Girls who fall in love with dark men will not be won over by a blond.

"All for Lima" Day to Be Featured on Friday

SALINING the precarious condition, financially, of our fair city, in co-operation to the the newspaper, have arranged for a special benefit on Friday, at which time the entire gross receipts of these Lima theatres, both afternoon and night, will be turned over to the police and fire department funds of the city.

At each box office, representative of the City Commission will be in charge. All expenses entailed in staging this benefit will be borne by the theatres and newspapers, so that every cent taken in will go to the fund.

The project is a thorough commendable one, and should receive the support and co-operation of every theatre-goer in the city. Regular programs will prevail, and a glance at the directory for the week-end discloses the fact that a number of meritorious offerings are in store for patrons on Friday.

Let's do our part to make this "All for Lima" day an unprecedented success. Co-operation is all that is necessary.

The theatres which have tendered their loyal support include the Sigma, New Orpheum, Lyric, Majestic, Quilna, Royal and Rialto.

THEATRE DIRECTORY

AT THE RIALTO Frank Mayo and Sylvia Breamer are co-starred in "Wolf Law," appearing again today at the Rialto theatre.

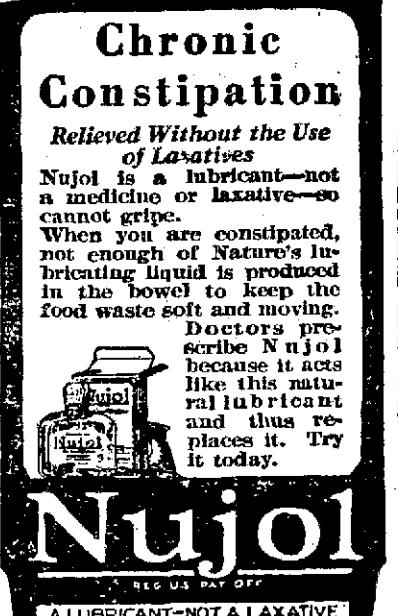

AT THE NEW ORPHEUM Bert Smith and his Ragtime Wonders is the special attraction all this week at the New Orpheum theatre.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Physician's Discovery Safely Reduces It To Normal and Dizzy Spells Disappear

If your blood pressure is too high you cannot pass a life insurance examination. Perhaps you don't know whether you have this high or not, but if you are experiencing dizzy spells, fits of breath, pains in the head, hot flashes are nervous, moody or don't feel well your blood pressure is probably higher than it ought to be. If you doubt it, see it.

Normal, the prescription of a Buffalo physician, reduces high blood pressure and when this result is accomplished all the ailments caused by it are removed. With quickly absorbed Grace Public drugs, more reliable than physicians everywhere, there is a steady demand for NORMAL. It is purely vegetable and contains nothing harmful.—Adv.

SHORT SHAVINGS

John L. Bradford was interested when he found a swarm of November bees hanging to a tree near Bradyville, O.

The same day last week he killed a blacksnake of great length and mounting aspect. He says this seems to be quite late in the season to find a blacksnake abroad in Bradyville and suggests that this may indicate either an extra mild or an extra cold winter for 1922-1923.

A. J. Brown, Wapakoneta banker, took his wife to New York.

She bought a pair of shoes and asked the salesmen to inclose a packet of sachet powder in the box and deftly the parcel at their hotel.

"The checkroom attendant was misled by the smell of sachet powder," he says. "He thought the box contained flowers and he put the shoes on ice."

James Weadock, attorney, stopped in at the court where traffic cases were being tried. One driver confessed that he had driven thru a safety zone, and was fined $25.

The next man had been arrested at the same time. "It wasn't my fault," he said. "I was following the man you just fined." The judge said, "You're still following him. The fine is $25."

Loosen Up That Cold With Musteroles

Have Musteroles handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the plaster. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then comes a smoothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musteroles is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musteroles for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosty feet, colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu." See and save, jars and bottles—Adv.
